The Committee met in the Rector’s chambers at Sri Venkateswara University, Tirupati on 28th and 29th April 2008 to identify the texts to be prescribed for each of the three papers, Prose, Poetry, Further Reading and Communication Curriculum for the First, Second and Third Year Degree Courses as a follow-up of the curriculum arrived at in its first meeting held on 26th and 27th March 2008.

The publishers placed before the Committee a number of anthologies prepared and published by them.

The Committee went carefully through the material presented and evaluated it in terms of the curricular requirements already arrived at. Taking into consideration the requirements of the undergraduate classroom, a choice of texts was identified in terms of the imparting of the humanistic values and teaching of language with a focus on the development of communication and employable skills in the students. In this process, the Committee resolved to dispense with literary history and chronology and make the study of the students as wide ranging as possible within the ambit of world writing.

1. When the publisher is chosen, he has to conform to the prescription of the various grammatical, language, communication, pre-reading, while-reading, post-reading components, exercises and tasks as already communicated to the APSCHE by the Committee in its resolutions at the meeting on 26th and 27th March 2008.
2. The Committee was of the opinion that when the publisher is finally chosen, the task of working out its conception of the textbook needs to be overseen preferably by the Committee. Further when the publisher completes the task of complying with the requirements of the Committee, the completed textbook, before it is brought out, will have to be gone through and approved by the Committee.

3. The Committee further suggests that as an optional item, a CD be offered by the publisher as a Reading and Listening Supplement to the Textbook.

4. Since every textbook consists of exercises of various kinds, the Committee is of the opinion that a key has to be supplied at the end of it. And also every textbook must provide a map of the book at the beginning.

5. A further recommendation of the Committee is that the publisher must so ensure that without compromising on the quality of production, the price has to be reasonable and within the reach of the student, not exceeding the price of the Prose and Poetry Selections of the previous syllabus.

6. The Committee is deeply engaged with the question of the transaction of the syllabus in the classroom and it suggests that a Teacher's Manual may also be brought as a separately priced item.

After a careful exercise in selection, the committee found that from among the published anthologies presented for scrutiny by Macmillan India Limited, the following items have been identified for possible prescription for the First Year Prose and Poetry. The conditions mentioned in paragraphs 1 to 6 apply to the Textbook to be brought out if this publisher is authorized to do.
